LAKE LINER SINKS, MANY PEOPLE MAY BE LOST

GOODRICH SHIP WISCONSIN GOES DOWN IN GALE

COAST GUARDSMEN OF LAKE
MICHIGAN SAVE 55 OF PAS-SENGERS AND CREW

AT LEAST 8 LIVES CLAIMED IN SECOND BIG SHIPWRECK
WITHIN A WEEK

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—The second big shipwreck on Lake Michigan within a week claimed eight lives today while coast guardsmen fought their way through mountainous waves to save 66 others from the 40-year-old steamer Wisconsin, after it had foundered in a storm 13 miles off the coast.

Among the rescued brought to hospitals here, 20 were suffering from severe injuries.

True to the traditions of the sea, Capt. Hugo Morrison, of the Wisconsin, went down with his ship.

Only one person of the 75 who set out from Chicago last night was unaccounted for on the last checkup. Coast guardsmen told of seeing his body float out of reach on the crest of a high wave as they were rescuing the others.

The Wisconsin, her hold filled with water, her radio silenced and lights darkened, dove to the bottom early today just as the last lifeboat hung started in the davit.

Members of the crew said Capt. Morrison stood on the starboard deck with his arms folded, as the cold gray waves rolled over his ship.

The 15 men in the last lifeboat were dumped into the lake, some of them going to their deaths, the others struggling in the waves until coast guard boats, tugs and fishing craft, summoned by radio, came to their aid.

Several of the injured were crushed against the side of the Wisconsin when the lifeboat ropes snapped.

A few miles north of the spot where the Wisconsin went down, the car ferry Milwaukee was swamped last week with a loss of 53 lives. Only nine of the bodies have been recovered.

Fred Trivier, a survivor of today's tragedy, said the Wisconsin ran safely through last week's storm which sunk the Milwaukee, only to go down in a lesser gale today.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 29.—Lake Michigan was cheated of at least 55 lives, possibly three more, early today when the Goodrich passenger-freight liner Wisconsin went down in a storm 13 miles off shore but the fate of the rest of the 60 or more other passengers and members of the crew still was in doubt.

Twelve or 15 other survivors were picked up later today by the fishing tug Chambers and taken to Milwaukee. That number raised the rescued list to 55 or 58. Early checkups along the western shore varied.

Three of the rescued died in Kenosha hospital where they were taken suffering from exposure and shock.

Members of the crew said there were 73 persons on the Wisconsin when it foundered but the Goodrich lines announced there were approximately 60.

Coast guardsmen, fighting towering waves, drove their boats alongside the sinking liner and took off as many as they could of the crew of 60 and several passengers. Others were taken from lifeboats and two were pulled out of the water after a lifeboat bearing 15 had capsized.

The remainder of the complement and the passengers may have been drowned or some or all may have been saved in ship's lifeboats or by other craft, the coast guardsmen said.

The Wisconsin, an old boat plying between Chicago and Milwaukee, radioed an SOS at 1:30 A. M. telling it was in distress. At 2:40 A. M. the Radio Corporation of America picked up a message stating the firehold of the craft was flooded and that she was in immediate danger.

"Hold on, help is coming," the operator radioed back.

By that time aid was being rushed to the sinking liner from a half dozen points. The Kenosha and Racine coast guard stations had sent their crews into the storm. The Illinois, sister ship of the Wisconsin, although herself disabled by the storm, was on the way from Racine. The tug Butterfield, a survivor of the furious storm that swept the Great Lakes last week, also was steaming toward the spot where the Wisconsin was going down.

But the buffeting waves made it almost impossible to approach the craft, and darkness hampered the rescuers. A few miles north of the spot where the rescue was in progress, the car ferry Milwaukee went down a week ago tonight with her crew of 52.

The Wisconsin left navy pier in Chicago at 7:25 o'clock last night. Her schedule called for a stop at Racine and docking at Milwaukee at 5 A. M. today.

The Illinois, her wheel chain disabled by the waves, had put in at Racine for repairs after fighting her way northward from Chicago since shortly after 8 o'clock last night. As soon as word of the plight of the Wisconsin became known, the Illinois went to the rescue.

Scenes paralleling major shipwrecks at sea were enacted on the tempestuous waters surrounding the Wisconsin. Boats of the coast guard swayed

Claims Speculative Brokers Caused Market Glut

HIT-AND-RUN MOTORIST ROBS HIS VICTIM TOO

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 28.—(U.P.)—A hit-and-run motorist has appeared here.

Mrs. Grace Wagenfeld was walking along a street yesterday when an automobile ran onto the sidewalk and knocked her down.

As she lay semi-conscious on the sidewalk, the driver hopped out, grabbed her purse and a bundle which she had been carrying and sped away.

PREMATURE NITRO-GLYCERINE BLAST KILLS 3

THE ACCIDENT OCCURS AT HOT SPRINGS, ARKANSAS,
EARLY TODAY

WINDOWS FOR RADIUS OF A
BLOCK WERE SHAT-
TERED

Hot Springs, Ark., Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—A premature explosion of nitro-glycerine killed three men here early today. The dead: Roy Pugh, 35, manager of the Orpheum Theatre, Tulsa, Okla.; W. W. Sirkel, electrician of the same theater, and Spencer Bryant, Fort Smith, Ark.

The explosion occurred as the automobile carrying the three backed up to a theater structure here where recent labor troubles over non-union operators had caused friction.

Windows for a radius of a block were shattered.

CONNECT SHOOTING OF TRAPPER WITH BOOTLEGGERS

Superior, Wis., Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Attempts were made here today to connect the strange shooting of Omar O'Connell, a trapper, with bootleggers in this territory.

O'Connell was shot through his head and killed instantly yesterday while he was making the round of his traps with Basil Fall, friend. The bullet apparently came from in front of O'Connell and it was considered possible he had been the victim of a still operator who feared discovery of his illegal operations.

The shooting occurred 30 miles south of here in a sparsely inhabited woods section where moonshiners are supposedly operating.

BODY OF MISSING WOMAN IS FOUND

Superior, Wis., Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—The body of Mrs. Rudolph Baumgartner, 38, who had been missing since Friday, was found in a thicket near here yesterday. Mrs. Baumgartner disappeared from her home at Four Corners, 20 miles south of Superior, Friday and failed to return. Searchers were summoned by her husband and were augmented by a sheriff's posse. A group of 25 farmers found the body. A coroner's investigation was scheduled today and will include checking up of reports made to the coroner that a shooting took place near the locality where the body was discovered.

MARIE OF ROUMANIA IS 54 YEARS OLD TODAY

Bucharest, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Marie of Roumania, most unconventional and perhaps loveliest and loneliest of Europe's queens, is 54 years old today. The royal road travelled by Roumania's queen has not been smooth, but Marie reached the 54th milestone retaining much of the beauty and personality for which she became famous. The death of King Ferdinand, the escapades of Prince Carol, the responsibilities of an eight-year-old grandson-king, and the boillings of the Roumanian political pot have brought many cares into the life of the queen.

Trial of Former Governor Catts Ends in Mistrial

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Trial of former Gov. Sidney J. Catts of Florida on a counterfeiting charge ended in a mistrial today.

to wave crests and then plunged to the bottom of deep troughs while to the men from the sinking ship took to lifeboats or plunged into the lake in lifeboats.

In the darkness, shouts of rescuers and the guardsmen rose above the roar of the storm and the crashing of the waves as contact was established.

3 Persons in Northwest Meet Death, Traffic Accidents Due to Snowladen Air and Slipping

NINE-YEAR-OLD ST. PAUL BOY IS KILLED NEAR HOME

FOREST HEIGHTS WOMAN KILL-ED BY SKIDDING CAR NEAR PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, WIS.

SECTION HAND SLIPS UNDER A PASSENGER TRAIN NEAR LONG LAKE, MINN.

St. Paul, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Swirling snowflakes that impeded clear vision and caused slippery footing carried death to three persons in the northwest in traffic accidents, according to reports here today.

Nine-year-old Albert Bonn was killed near his home here when he slipped beneath the wheels of a motor car as he ran across the street. Mrs. Willis S. Jennings of Forest Heights, Minn., was fatally injured in a skidding automobile near Prairie Du Chien, Wis., and John Johnson, a section hand, slipped under a Great Northern passenger train near Long Lake, Minn.

Slippery streets caused scores of minor automobile accidents that brought injury to several persons here today.

The heaviest snowfall in Minnesota was reported at Moorhead where more than two inches of wet, clammy snow covered the ground or melted as it fell. Nearly 2 inches of snow was reported at St. Paul and Minneapolis while only a trace was reported from Duluth.

The Duluth-Superior district was visited by a howling 40-mile wind, however, and all shipping on upper Lake Superior was halted. The bitter wind was general throughout the northwest and carried flurries of snow to most of Minnesota.

Southern Minnesota was covered by the snow late Tuesday and the fall continued for several hours today. Faribault reported one inch of snow at 11 A. M. with a temperature of 24 degrees.

Red Wing received the full force of the snow and nearly 2 inches fell, at times with almost blinding force. Several other sections in the southern half of the state reported similar conditions.

The central Minnesota area near Little Falls, St. Cloud and Brainerd also received a feathery blanket of snow. The ground was covered at Little Falls and the fall continued at 11 A. M.

Fire on Board Aquitania is Quickly Extinguished

London, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Fire broke out on the Cunard liner Aquitania in dock at Southampton today.

The fire, which centered amidship, was reported extinguished within 30 minutes, however.

The fire started on the Aquitania about 20 minutes before the big liner reached the dock at Southampton.

The Cunard offices here said the fire was in a storeroom of the Aquitania and had been extinguished by the time the ship docked without damage. No one was injured and the ship expected to sail again on schedule. The Aquitania sailed from New York Oct. 23.

SAUNTERS INTO WRONG HOME, GOES TO BED

Irrington, N. J., Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Howard B. Ford sauntered up what he thought were the steps to his home, unlocked the door, put on his pajamas and went to bed.

In magistrate's court, however, Ford later confessed to the following:

1—That he had entered the home of William Smith instead of his own.

2—That he had put on a dress belonging to Smith's 10-year-old daughter, thinking it was his pajamas.

3—That he had slept in the girl's bed although he had a hazy idea that it was too short for him.

4—That the liquor he consumed before his startling adventure was slightly more efficacious than he had anticipated.

SEN. T. E. BURTON OF OHIO DIES AT HOME LAST NIGHT

WAS FOR YEARS A REPUBLICAN LEADER, CLOSE FRIEND OF PRESIDENT HOOVER

ALTHOUGH CONFINED TO HIS HOME TOOK INTEREST IN LEGISLATIVE MATTERS

Washington, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Senator Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, for years a republican leader and close personal friend of President Hoover, died at his home here last night.

He was 78 years old and had been in poor health for the past year. Although confined to his home for weeks he maintained his usual interest in legislative matters and kept in close touch with his office until only a few days before his death.

He suffered a seemingly mild attack of influenza about a month ago but, in his weakened condition, he was unable to combat it successfully. Last Wednesday he suffered a serious relapse and hope for his recovery was abandoned Sunday when he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Bishop MacDowell, according to tentative arrangements, is to officiate at formal funeral services at the senate chambers tomorrow, after which the body will be taken to Cleveland for burial. Brief services are first planned at the home.

President Hoover visited the senator several times during his illness, the last time on Friday.

The senate adjourned today out of respect for Burton, whose death was called to the attention of the senate by Senator Fess of Ohio, when that body convened today.

Fess presented a resolution expressing the senate's regret at the death of the Ohio legislator and instructing Vice President Curtis to name a committee of 19 senators to take charge of the funeral and accompany the body to Cleveland.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 P. M. tomorrow.

President Hoover will attend the services, it was learned at the White House.

GREATEST BREAK IN STOCK EXCHANGE IS CONTINUING

BILLIONS OF DOLLARS OF VALUE
ARE BEING SLASHED
AWAY

PRICES SEEM TO KNOW NO END.
MARKET ROARS DOWN IN DEEP DROPS

New York, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—The greatest break in the history of the New York stock exchange continued to slash away billions of dollars in values today in the most enormous trading day in history.

Prices seemed to know no end.

Positive assurances from bankers and economists that the bottom had been reached yesterday brought only a temporary respite. Then the market roared downward at wide drops.

Shortly after 1 P. M. prices were down 1 to 50 points on both the big board and the cub exchange, with new lows for the year or longer established in many shares. The market value loss was tremendous, totaling upwards of $50,000,000,000 since this terrible downward movement started a few days ago.

The federal reserve was in session with Secretary Mellon in attendance. He was said to have conferred with President Hoover, but no statement was forthcoming.

For a period in the morning, prices turned up, but then ate again led a down turn when it was learned that one of the curb brokerage houses had failed. Steel got back below 180 and other pivotal shares lost most of their rallies.

One of the leading New York bankers said that today's session probably will see the worst of the decline in many cases. He was a member of the group seeking to stabilize the market. Another of this group said he was strongly urging the various interests with which he is associated such as banks, insurance companies and investment trusts to purchase stocks.

New York, Oct. 29.—Sales on the New York stock exchange broke all records today with sales up to 2:10 P. M. aggregating 13,813,000 shares, compared with the previous record of 12,894,650 shares traded last Thursday. At the same rate of activity of trading in the first four hours, total sales promised to eclipse the 15,500,000 mark.

MAIL PILOT LOSES LIFE BUCKING BAD WEATHER

Mt. Vernon, Ohio, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Perils that lurk on the airwaves claimed the life today of F. E. M. Kane, pilot for the University Air Lines, whose desire to see the mail go through on schedule sent him aloft against the odds of unfavorable weather.

Kane was burned to death when his plane crashed on the Williams farm, nine miles southeast of here, and caught fire. He left Akron at 4:44 p. m. on his regular run to Columbus.

DALADIER FAILS TO GET SOCIALIST AID IN CABINET

Paris, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—The socialist national council today voted against participation in the government which Edouard Daladier, radical socialist leader, had hoped to form on the basis of a coalition of left parties.

Without socialist collaboration, Daladier's efforts to form a government with a dependable majority in the chamber are doomed to failure. He may attempt to draw upon the center for support, but thus far the center has shown no disposition to assist him in the solution of the crisis.

Paris, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Edouard Daladier, radical socialist leader, abandoned today his efforts to form a cabinet to succeed that of Aristide Briand, who resigned last week. Daladier's decision came soon after the socialist party refused to participate in the new government.

JUDGE CHARGED WITH SHOOTING HIS SON-IN-LAW

JUDGE R. H. HAMILTON TRIED
ON CHARGE OF SLAYING
YOUNG TOM WALTON

PROCEEDINGS TAKE PLACE IN
PICTURESQUE COURT HOUSE
AT WEATHERFORD, TEX.

Weatherford, Texas, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—A maelstrom of passions and emotions as old as the human race had its vortex today in the picturesque Parker county court house where Judge R. H. Hamilton was being tried on a charge of murdering young Tom Walton, the son-in-law he did not want in the family.

Love and anger, pride and grief, loyalty and sense of duty were struggling for mastery in the minds of the four persons who were playing the principal roles in the human drama that paralleled the legal procedure.

Those four, diverse in personality and each with a different burden of grief to be lightened or increased by the outcome of the case, listened to attorneys wage the legal contest over juryman today.

It was expected the jury would be completed by noon. Five farmers and a bank cashier had been selected from a venire of 150 when court recessed last night, after the first day of the trial that has brought curious from miles around.

Judge Hamilton, prominent Amarillo jurist, is accused by the state of having shot and killed young Walton last May 4 when the youth entered his father-in-law's office to announce he had married his daughter, Theresa.

The trial was brought here from Amarillo on a change of venue on the defense contention that feeling there was too intense to permit a fair trial.

Senator Watson Retiring From Party Leadership

Washington, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Senator Jasper Watson of Indiana, republican floor leader, is retiring from party leadership in the senate, temporarily, and is leaving Thursday for Florida on order of physicians for a three weeks rest.

Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, is to be designated leader during Watson's absence by republican leaders.

'BLACK DAY' ON THE STOCKHOLM BOURSE

Stockholm, Sweden, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—The Stockholm bourse experienced a "black day" as stocks went down today in coincidence with slumps in Swedish shares on the New York and London exchanges.

Industrial shares lost heavily. Shares of the Swedish match trust, headed by Ivar Krueger, dropped 10 to 21 points. Krueger debentures dropped 43 points.

ALSO FOR LOW PRICE FARMERS GOT FOR GRAIN

J. F. REED, STATE FARM LEADER,
MAKES ASSERTION IN ADDRESS
AT DULUTH

IS SPEAKER AT NORTHWEST
SHIPPERS' ADVISORY ANNUAL BOARD MEETING

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Speculative merchants and brokers were responsible for the market glut and subsequent low price received by northwest farmers for their grain this year, J. F. Reed, veteran Minnesota farm leader, declared here today at the 28th annual formal meeting of the Northwest Shippers Advisory Board.

Speaking before 100 railroad men, shippers and representatives of the grain trade, the former chairman of the Shippers' Board referred scathingly to "price-fixing and McNary-Haugenism" in discussing recent moves of the farm board.

"The shippers met here today to consider current problems of grain marketing and terminal storage situations at Duluth, Superior and Minneapolis. 'During the past year,' Reed said, 'the heavy influx of grain to terminal elevators became so great that there was talk of a congressional investigation. The federal farm board finally determined that a greatly congested situation did exist and a slowing up in the grain movement was the only remedy.'

"The farmers were told higher price awaited the man who held his grain and every possible influence was used to stem the golden flow. An embargo was placed on coarse grain to allow wheat to flow to terminals. 'But the producers saw the congested situation and, with financial obligations to meet with their grain, exerted every effort to market before an embargo would be called.'

Reed refused to consider that the low price and congestion was due to lack of demand but rather declared "hundreds of millions of dollars that should have been available for productive effort were tied up in hoarded grain that filled the terminals to capacity."

"The grain was hoarded by the merchant and broker interests until the terminals were unable to receive and handle this year's crops. Had this grain moved into consumption our terminals would not have been congested."

The farm leader insisted he did not believe the promises of the republican party in the last presidential election were fulfilled. In referring to implied promises of the party for higher grain prices he said the crop of 1928 was hoarded in elevators so the public terminals this year would be glutted and the price beaten down.

In discussing the recent "noble experiment" of the farm board, Reed declared the days of price fixing and McNary-Haugenism are nearly returned in the action of the board in setting minimum prices on wheat and cotton.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 29.—Limited capacity of terminal elevators was responsible for the grain congestion at Minneapolis, Duluth and Superior this year, Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern railroad, declared here today in an address before the annual meeting of the Northwest Shippers' Advisory Board.

Budd pointed out that northwest railroads had to move the crop faster than the terminals found it possible to provide storage facilities. The large hold-over of the 1928 crop, power harvesting that threw the entire crop on the market in a shorter span of time than usual and lack of foreign buying were named by Budd as other factors in causing the congestion.

The railway president declared that during August and September northwest railroads had enough cars available to move all the grain but the unloading terminals were filled to capacity and the cars became tied up.

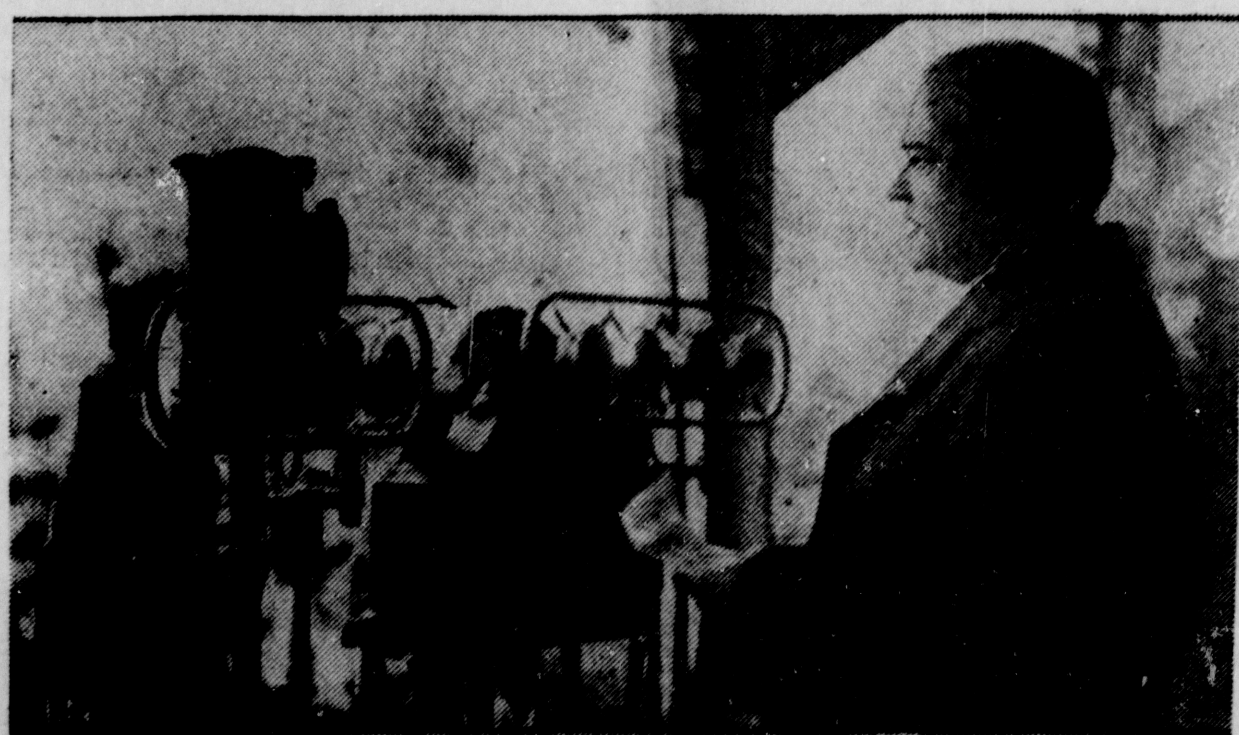

The situation might have been much more acute, Budd said, if the farmers had not heeded the advice of the federal farm board to hold their crops for better prices.

AMPLIFIES PLANS FOR POWER PROJECT

Washington, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Amplifying the plans he sketched yesterday for development of a power project on the Flathead river in Montana, Walter H. Wheeler, Minneapolis, today told the federal power commission his estimates for a dam and power house at a cost of $8,811,000 had been examined and approved by bankers, engineers and construction firms.

The Rocky Mountain Power company, also an applicant for the Flathead river site, is expected to present its side of the case later today.

Elaborate Setting Built for Film

A special stage, larger in size than the average in New York theatres, was constructed at the Paramount studio in Hollywood to present the elaborate revue scenes in the picture, "The Dance of Life," from the popular stage hit "Burlesque."

Earl Lindsay, one-time dance director for Dillingham, Carroll and the Shuberts, was brought from New York to direct the mighty choruses, numbering more than 80 girls. The revue is built around the clever eccentric dancing of Hal Skelly, noted Broadway comedian, who is featured in the picture with Nancy Carroll. Skelly was in the original New York company for the stage production.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH VERDICT RETURNED

Jury Returns Verdict in Probe of Deaths of Cuyuna Youths

VICTIMS OF CRASH

"Not Due to Any Negligence on Part of Joe Stein," Verdict Reads

A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Mike Vranas killed instantly in an automobile crash near Crow Wing on highway No. 27 the night of October 16.

John Palm, buddy to Vranas, both youths being from Cuyuna, died at the local hospital within 24 hours after the crash. There will be no inquest into the death of Palm as the same circumstances covered his death. The inquest was begun before the death of Palm.

In returning the verdict the jury specified that the death was "accidental and not due to any negligence on the part of Joe Stein."

Joe Stein was the driver of the other car in the crash. The accident occurred as he, Manfield and Donald Norquist were returning to their homes in Brainerd from a dance at Fort Ripley. The other car, driven by Vranas, was travelling south on the highway. Both victims' heads were crushed.

Two witnesses were called this morning for questioning as to whether there was evidence of any liquor drinking by the three occupants of the Stein car. Both stated emphatically that they detected no sign of it.

L. R. Tucker, one of the operators of a Ft. Ripley dance hall stated that he saw Stein and the Norquist boys at the dance and they appeared to him to be normal in all respects.

Dr. John A. Thabes, Jr., said he gave medical aid to the three about 40 minutes after the accident.

On question of County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan if he could detect any liquor Dr. Thabes replied: "I neither could smell or see any emotion in their actions or speech to show any sign of liquor. There was no indication of any liquor on any one of the three."

Special Communion Service

THE FIRST EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Brainerd, Minn.

Wednesday, Oct. 30

This picture is new, in the sense that it portrays things never before shown upon the screen, and that have never been conceived in the memory of mankind. It brings before your eyes the marvelous phenomena of beautiful Sweden. The writing is in English.

Indorsed by Revs. Philip Thelander, Joshua Oden, Knut Erickson, E. K. Jonson and Olof Nelson.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Young People's Department of Methodist Sunday School Enjoy Occasion

The Young People's Department of the Methodist Sunday school held a Halloween party last evening in the church parlors.

The evening was spent in playing different games, followed by a lunch. A short business meeting was then held and election of officers took place. The following were chosen.

President—Bernard Foster.
Vice President—Jerry Schrader.
Secretary—Carol Hoffman.
Treasurer—Alberta Smith.

The church has been prettily decorated in the Halloween colors of orange and black. Twenty-four members were present.

Entertains at Card Party

Mrs. Adolph Jelacic charmingly entertained a number of her friends on Saturday evening at a card party at her home, 801 Fifth avenue northeast. Thirty guests gathered for the evening, and five hundred was played at six tables. Miss Anna Johnson carried off ladies head prize with the consolation going to Mrs. Wolda. Art Johnson received the gentlemen's head prize and Reis Plummer the consolation.

The home had been beautifully decorated in the Halloween colors of black and orange. A Halloween luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

FAREWELL PARTY AT THE CHURCH

100 Friends and Relatives Bid Farewell to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ohm

LEAVE SOON FOR ST. PAUL

Pleasant Function Took Place at the German Evangelical Church

About 100 friends and relatives gathered in the basement of the German Evangelical church last evening, the occasion being a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ohm, who will leave soon for St. Paul where they will make their future home.

The evening was spent in speaking, and singing after which a dainty luncheon was served. Mrs. Ohm was presented with a purse by her many friends.

The out-of-town guests were Rev. and Mrs. Winger of Little Falls and Mrs. Otto Reckow and son Gus of Minneapolis. Mrs. Reckow and Mrs. Ohm were girlhood chums.

The guests departed at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Ohm success and happiness in their new home.

MOOSEHEART PLANS HALLOWEEN FROLIC

Witches, Ghostly Shadows and Spooks to Haunt Moose Hall Night of Oct. 31

A Halloween party of a public nature will be held at the Moose hall October 31 to be sponsored by the Women of Mooseheart Legion.

The evening's program will include dancing, fortune telling. Costumes will prove a popular part of the evening's entertainment which will close with a lunch.

In extending an invitation to be present at the party, the Women of Mooseheart Legion write:

"Come forth in armor of masquerade, if you wish, and gather the thrills from eerie chats with weird visages that promenade midst the clatter of bones and grinning devils.

"Come with a brave countenance and let the spirit of Halloween bring back youth, mend broken hearts and weave spells of charm and romance that destiny will provide.

"Good music is assured, good eats are a certainty and good fun will be everywhere for everyone."

Adults, Too, Prefer "No Dosing" for Colds

Millions Adopt External Remedy Made Famous As Treatment For Children's Colds

A generation ago, when Vicks VapoRub was originated, the idea of treating colds without "dosing" was almost unheard of. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

Mothers of young children especially have been quick to appreciate this better, external method of treating colds, because there's nothing to swallow and, of course, nothing to upset the little ones' delicate stomachs. Year by year more and more adults, too, have found Vicks equally good for their own colds.

Just rubbed on, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster; and, at the same time, it releases medicated vapors which are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages. Ever-increasing demand for this better method of treating colds is shown in the familiar Vicks slogan. Made famous when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly"—later raised to "21 Million"—there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

Character

A GOOD name has a high market value, says the Osseo Press. Character is salable merchandise.

If you would have this impressed more forcibly than we can put it, talk it over with any of the bankers here in Osseo. From their long experience in passing on loans they have learned that the moral risk is frequently to be given greater consideration than the financial statement.

Some men there are who would not see another lose through an act of theirs. Others there are without such fine sensibilities, or such a well developed sense of honor.

Those in this latter group are often questionable risks while those in the former group are always safe.

Which class of men, therefore, can usually get credit when credit is really needed? Most any man is apt to want a substantial loan at some time in his life, either in an emergency or when presented with a real opportunity. It is then that he learns the value of his good name.

If you would belong to this class of men who are always granted loans when loans are needed, then take scrupulous care of your reputation. Pay your small bills, deal fairly with the other fellow, hesitate always to take a petty advantage, and you will have a character with high value in our fine community.

EVERY vehicle should carry lights at night. This is particularly true of hayracks. Driving against the glare of approaching cars one may sometimes be blinded so as not to observe an unlighted vehicle ahead.

KENTUCKY, whose constitution forbids a state indebtedness of over half a million, has just found out that it owes round about $7,000,000. Those Kentuckians seem to be careless people.

THE wise man profits by his mistakes, for he is wise enough to see his shortcomings and prevent recurrences of mistakes in judgment and execution.

Now that the Ohio river has been made a veritable artery of commerce, it is hoped something will be done about that nine-foot channel in the Upper Mississippi.

A KIND word, a cheery smile, cost but a little effort, but, oh, they mean much to many people.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

October 29, 1904

The republican primaries to elect delegates to the city convention were held in the city last night in the different wards. The fight was made on the office of mayor with three candidates for nomination in the field, Edward Crust, P. M. Zakariassen and R. R. Wise. Edward Crust carried the city with an overwhelming majority and will be the party's regular nominee at the general election. The following delegates were elected: First ward: C. E. Rowley, William Erb, F. L. Barnes, Geo. Gardner, Chas. Hagberg and A. A. Armstrong. Second ward: W. D. McKay, S. Salmon, F. J. Low, E. A. McKay, D. K. Fullerton, J. L. Frederick, C. E. Cole, Joseph Kiebler, E. O. Webb, W. E. Entriiken, W. Mahood, Eric Kronberg. Third ward: Geo. Halladay, David Cohen, George Lind, Henry Towers, W. E. Storm, Conrad Ise, C. A. Nichols, F. M. Cook. Fourth ward: John Thompson, Martin Wicklund, M. Setula, J. C. Olson, August Johnson and Alfred Erickson. Fifth ward: Ed. Bane, Chas. Swanson, F. S. Walker, John Wise, P. M. Johnson, R. L. Weeks and Chas. Peterson. Mrs. Flora Weatherby, great mistress of records of the Rathbone Sisters, is in the city and will be present at the meeting of White Cross Temple this evening.

Rev. R. Johnson, pastor of the Swedish Mission church was given a genuine surprise last night. Some 50 of the members of the church met and presented him with a fine rocking chair.

TWO OF TOUGHEST WARRIORS IN RING IN TITLE BATTLE

MICKEY WALKER DEFENDS CROWN AGAINST HUDKINS

LOS ANGELES FIGHT ENTHUSIASM AT HIGH PITCH FOR TONIGHT'S EVENT

20,000 CUSTOMERS EXPECTED AT WRIGLEY FIELD FOR MIDDLE-WEIGHT TITLE MATCH

By RONALD W. WAGGONER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Los Angeles, Oct. 29.—Fight enthusiasm was at a high pitch in Los Angeles as two of the toughest warriors in the ring game prepared to battle in Wrigley Field tonight for the middle-weight championship of the world.

Some time before 10 P. M.—the limit under the California law for starting a main bout—Dan Tobey, the veteran announcer, will step to the middle of an outdoor arena before some 20,000 spectators and shrill in his siren voice:

"In this corner, Mickey Walker—the champion of the world."

And after the stocky bulldog from New Jersey has taken his bow and his cheers, Dan will hold up his hand for silence—then shrill again:

"And in this corner, Ace Hudkins—Nebraska Wildcat and challenger for the title."

Not since Billy Papke knocked out Stanley Ketchell in this city 20 years ago last Labor Day to win the middle-weight title has Los Angeles been so worked up about a prize fight.

Betting was about even but there were indications that the odds will favor Walker by a slim margin at bell time.

Followers of the champion maintain Mickey has two big advantages in his favor. They say he can hit harder than the challenger and that he can duck a punch once in a while.

Hudkins, a plowing, mauling type of fighter, goes in swinging wildly and to date has relied largely on his bruising and constant hammering to gain decisions. His backers point out, however, that the Ace has a few tricks in his bag that Walker will see tonight.

Clyde and Art Hudkins, brother-managers of the Wildcat, have taken the greatest pains to put Ace over. They secured special permission from the California commission to second the Nebraskan and they supervised a long training period in which Billy Papke played an important part.

The wily old ex-champ was called in by the brothers to coach Ace on some of the finer points of the game. The brothers recalled that Papke beat Ketchell by ducking the latter's damaging right and coming up to counter Ketchell's head.

One of Walker's most damaging punches is similar to the famous Ketchell blow and time will tell if Papke's advice helped the Hudkins clan.

Both fighters, it was indicated, will weigh in easily under the 160-pound limit some time today. Hudkins scaled 156 3-4 yesterday and while Walker did not weigh publicly it was claimed by Teddy Hayes, his trainer, that the champion scaled 150 pounds.

GIVES LABORERS VACATIONS

Edward G. Seubert, president of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) who last March succeeded Col. R. W. Stewart as its chief executive, has just announced a new vacation plan for that company which is attracting wide attention. Whereas in most companies vacations are given only to salaried workers, Mr. Seubert's administration has given them also to hourly paid workers on a basis of one week vacation after five years of employment and two weeks after ten years. The new plan affects 5,000 employees scattered over ten states of the Middle West. With 6,000 salaried workers already receiving vacations, the company will now have 11,000 on its vacation list. The company's hourly paid workers had been repeatedly denied by the previous administration on the grounds of impracticability. "Far from being impracticable," declared Mr. Seubert in announcing the new plan, "we expect to get an appreciable return from it through increased loyalty."

CARNEGIE FOUNDATION REPORT STIRS COLLEGES

RADICAL THOUGHTS ARE GENERATED ON MANY A CAMPUS

CARNEGIE REPORT CONDEMNED COMMERCIALIZATION OF INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL

PRINCETON STUDENTS DISCUSS POSSIBILITY OF UNIVERSITY WITHOUT SPORTS

Herewith is the first of a series of four articles by United Press staff correspondents, dealing with the reaction of university undergraduate students to conditions revealed by the Carnegie Foundation report on college athletics. The correspondents have visited representative schools since the report was issued, talked with students and found the student bodies thinking in radical channels with regard to athletics.

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Oct. 29. — (U.P.)—Radical thoughts have been stirred on the campus of important universities of the east, by the issuance of the Carnegie Foundation's report of last week, condemning the emphasis, commercialization and general methods of intercollegiate football.

At Princeton students were found who even went so far as to discuss the possibility of a university in the future with no intercollegiate sports whatsoever — suggestions which ten years ago would have constituted the rankest heresy.

At Columbia University the correspondent found students unwilling to say which sport was the more important — football with its big business methods and tremendous income, or rowing, which is a dead loss financially. They were inclined to put the two on a par, at least, and there was a lurking suspicion that the day might come when the crew would outrank the football squad interest and esteem.

Some frankly said that football was an alumni sport while crew belonged to the undergraduate.

At both universities there was this underlying tone found on every hand:

Football has been fostered to its present position largely through the efforts of the alumni. They have had the money to pay for tickets, and in cases where there have been abuses, to pay for players, for athletic scholarships and in general act as "angels" for the sport. The undergraduate student bodies take no responsibility for this commercialization. They lay the blame upon the alumni.

"But if the alumni want to spend their money for football," one student at Columbia said, expressing an attitude which seemed typical, "then let's let the alumni do it. We will yell for the team and be glad of its success—and then we will take all the money made out of football and finance all other sports, practically none of which are self-supporting."

At Princeton every sport, including not only the major sports which are football, track, baseball, rowing, basketball and hockey, but the minor sports down through lacrosse and squash, all are financed through the football receipts. Students agreed that at least 55 per cent of the student body took part in one or more of these minor sports.

WARDS TO HAVE BASKETBALL TEAM

ALL CANDIDATES HAVE ENVIABLE RECORDS; SEEK GAMES WITH INDEPENDENT TEAMS

Montgomery Ward & Company of

Braierd is originating one of the flashiest quintets in northern Minnesota. The men of the team have had several years of experience on high school, college and independent teams. This team intends to enter into the industrial league, also to play teams from the nearby cities.

The quintet consists of such outstanding players as N. P. Nelson of Augsburg and former leading point man of the Black Hawks; Cluff, all district forward of Aitkin high school; Sakarias, of Hibbing Junior College; Eckholm, at one time leading point man of the University of Minnesota Freshman team; Swanson, stationary guard of considerable fame; and Bergstrand, who is fast developing into a speedy forward.

Managers of all teams are requested to communicate with E. R. Gulden, manager.

The Back Door looks a little neglected, doesn't it? For one thing, the screening has rusted and fallen away in spots. Doesn't keep the flies out. And the delivery boys and the ice man have soiled the woodwork. It does look messy. It isn't much of a job to put in new netting and to paint the main door and the frame of the other. Let's get busy. ## REGISTERING VITAL STATISTICS EARLY

W. A. M. Johnstone, Clerk of District Court, Stresses Importance of Same

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS

13 Reasons Advanced for Prompt Registration of Births

W. A. M. Johnstone, clerk of the district court today stressed the importance to all concerned of registering births, marriages and deaths at his office as early a time following as is possible.

Records of marriage should be returned at the latest one month after the date of the issuing of the license. Failure to do the same leaves the party officiating at the ceremony liable to prosecution. Mr. Johnstone suggests that returns be made henceforth to his office as early as possible after the marriage.

There is hardly a relation of life, social, legal or economic, in which the evidence furnished by an accurate registration of births may not prove to be of the greatest value, not only to the individual, but also to the public at large. It is not only an act of civilization to register birth certificates, but good business, for they are frequently used in many practical ways, the Minnesota Department of Health, Division of Vital Statistics urge.

The department offers the following 13 reasons for registering births.

- (1) As evidence to prove the age and legitimacy of heirs;
  - (2) As proof of age to determine the validity of a contract entered into by an alleged minor;
  - (3) As evidence to establish the right of admission to the professions and to many public offices;
  - (4) As evidence of legal age to marry;
  - (5) As evidence to prove the claims of widows and orphans under the Widows and Orphans Pension Law;
  - (6) As evidence to determine the liability of parents for the debts of a minor;
  - (7) As evidence in the administration of estates, the settlement of insurance and pensions;
  - (8) As evidence to prove the irresponsibility of children under 12 years of age for crime and misdemeanor, and various other matters in the criminal code;
  - (9) As evidence in the enforcement of laws relating to education and to child labor;
  - (10) As evidence to determine the relations of guardians and wards;
  - (11) As proof of citizenship in order to obtain a passport;
  - (12) As evidence in the claim for exemption from or the right to jury and militia service.
- Human life is sacred. When human being passes out from our life it is important that an immediate record be made of all the essential details of the event—an immediate record, because it is well established by years of experience that an accurate record in all cases cannot or will not be made unless the law requires it to be made at once. Such a record should include the facts relating to the exact time and place of death, the full name, age, sex, color, civil condition, occupation, place of birth, and other details relating to the individual, and also, a very important requirement, a statement by the attending physician, or by the health officer or coroner, of cause of death. These facts may be of the greatest legal and social importance," says the department.

Seven reasons why a complete record of death should be recorded at the office of the clerk of district court follow:

- (1) Certificates of death, or certified copies are constantly required in courts and elsewhere to establish necessary facts;
- (2) Pensions or life insurance may depend on proper evidence of the fact and of cause of death;
- (3) Titles and rights to inheritance may be jeopardized by the failure of records;
- (4) Deaths should be registered that public health agencies—National, State and Municipal—may know the cause of death and act promptly to prevent epidemics;
- (5) Deaths should be registered promptly that the success or failure of all measures attempted in the prevention of disease may be accurately determined;
- (6) Deaths should be registered that individual cities and localities may learn their own health conditions by comparison with the health conditions of other communities and determine thereby the wise course of public health activity;
- (7) Deaths should be registered that homeseekers and immigrants may be guided in the selecting of safe and healthful homes.

ALBERT ZAHN, 62, DIES ON WEST COAST

Brainerd Man Succumbs at Los Angeles Hospital After Brief Illness

WIFE AND SON HERE

Had Been Employed at Huntington Park Since March; Burial Rites Here

Albert Zahn, aged 62 years, 622 Oak street S. died at 6 p. m. Monday at a hospital in Los Angeles after a brief illness, according to advice received here by his wife and son, Alfred A. Zahn.

Mr. Zahn left Brainerd last March to visit his daughter Mrs. Chester O'Connor at Huntington Park, Calif., situated near Los Angeles. Soon after his arrival there he secured employment, working until a month ago when an injury to his foot forced him to enter the hospital. Mrs. C. G. Widmer of Minneapolis is the only other remaining member of the immediate family.

Cause of death was not stated in the telegrams received in Brainerd. His condition took a sudden change yesterday resulting in his demise.

As one of the early residents of Brainerd Mr. Zahn was well known in this locality. For years he had been employed at the Parker and Topping foundry. He was a member of the Sons of Herman.

The body will be returned to Brainerd Friday at which time funeral arrangements will be completed.

SWEDEN TO BE SHOWN IN MOVING PICTURES

Sweden's life as a nation will be colorfully pictured at the Evangelical Lutheran church under the auspices of Evangelical Lutheran church, next Wednesday, October 30, in motion pictures brought to Brainerd by P. A. Thelin. Beautiful well kept cities, parks and countryside will be interwoven with presentations of the industrial and cultural life of the inhabitants, as well as the religious side expressed in marvelous churches, of which some antedate the Reformation.

Possessing a wonderful voice, Miss Siri Anderson, noted Swedish singer will be heard in charming songs in both languages. Miss Anderson is a woman of attractive personality and her contribution to the program is described as delightful.

No "Instruments of the Devil" Now! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

With the introduction of machinery man-power feared it was to be supplanted. By the force of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE this ancient prejudice disappeared. Our modern "machine age" brings happiness and prosperity.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

CHAPTER LIII.

"But everything is wonderful for us," she declared, smiling eagerly. "You have a home all furnished and waiting. I've always said that house needed a woman," and she smiled with a little domestic quirk.

"But the curtains in it are all terrible," he told her.

She seemed to him, now, like a child incapable of appreciating the gravity of their problems.

"I don't know how to go about straightening things out," he admitted, his face set and his eyes staring straight ahead. "There's nothing to worry about—everything is bound to come out all right."

He could not escape the calmness of her voice and, while he was vaguely very happy, he clung perversely to his troubled thoughts. "What do you advise me to do?" "I advise you," she said, kissing him again, "to go along home and behave yourself. Just let things work out—we're in no rush, you know, all eternity is ahead of us."

Once more before leaving they surrendered themselves to crushing embraces: again and again he kissed her until their blissful world of delicious joy was recreated and they were floating on golden clouds.

At her gate they parted with a reluctance that filled the night with aching sweetness.

"You're not going to worry, are you?" she remonstrated again.

"But I feel like I ought to start to do something."

She sealed his lips with another kiss.

"You leave it to me. I have an idea. I'm not going to say anything right now but wait a little while—and we'll see what'll happen."

The variation of his own feelings amazed him. All in a space of a few hours he would sink to depths of despair and then, for no reason, would soon be in the clouds.

Sleep came to him, light and cheerful.

Morning again found him in the timber with his axe ringing. Another day passed and he was again at work among the shadowy green pines, when a voice called to him. Tom Freeman came up and they shook hands.

"Marion sent me," Freeman said.

Tom Freeman sat down on a log and Eddie joined him.

"I saw Marian and she told me about you two," Freeman said, his voice slightly unhappy. "I suppose I ought to congratulate you—and I do. She's a wonderful girl, but she never could see me. I was always nothing but a friend."

"Anybody can be in love," Eddie said, with sudden wisdom, "but it's the hardest thing on earth to be a true friend."

"I found that out," Freeman agreed. "Marian put all the cards on the table and asked me to help you out. That's why I'm here, Regan. It's all Marian's idea—but I'm going through it for her sake—and for yours, too, I reckon."

"What did she want you to do?" Eddie asked, puzzled.

Freeman grinned, but his voice was awkward. "Marian thought I might go over to the county seat and see that New York girl of yours. She had an idea that if somebody from outside, like myself, put the question squarely to her that Miss Veressi might cut out her darn foolishness and go back to New York. After all, very few girls really want to cause a good guy any serious trouble. I don't know how good I am as an orator, but with your permission I'll try to make her see the light. How about it?"

The plan was so simple, that for a moment it seemed silly to Eddie.

"I don't think she'd fall for that stuff," he mused.

"I disagree with you," Freeman said. "I'll make an appeal to her human nature; that's the easiest and best way out—and there's a good chance I can get away with it."

It occurred to Eddie that Tom Freeman was one of the finest men he had ever known. Not every guy would go to battle for his rival.

"The trouble is," he objected, "that you are a stranger to her. She's not used to men like you, Freeman, and she might not get you—like I do."

They walked back to the house, discussing the problem.

Unexpectedly, a new complication presented itself; the arrival of Mike Arno. He was waiting for them, his smart New York luggage piled up on the veranda. Tall, buoyant, with expansive manner, he sprang down the step and pumped Eddie's hand.

"Did you get my letter that I was coming?" he demanded, beaming. "Cripes, it's nice out here. It's nice in the country, ain't it?"

"Yes, it's nice," Eddie admitted, with a tired smile. "I'm glad you're here, Mike—but things don't look so good for me right now. Bernice is in town and she's playing Old Nick with me. Meet Mr. Freeman, Mr. Arno."

"You mean she came down here?" he asked. "Is she causing any trouble, Kid?"

Eddie explained to Tom Freeman. "Mr. Arno's a friend of Bernice's."

He turned to Mike with bitter frankness.

"She's here," he said, "and she's getting me in wrong with the whole county. My friend, Mr. Freeman, here thought something of trying to persuade her to go back to New York. She won't listen to me."

"Did you come right out and give her the air?" Arno demanded.

"I did."

"Where is she now?"

"In town."

Arno looked at Tom Freeman's car. "That yours?"

"Yes."

Arno girded an affectionate arm around Eddie's shoulder.

"Listen, Kid," he said, emotionally. "Bernice is a good kid at heart. I don't think Mr. Freeman could handle her alone, but if I joined up with him it ought to be a cinch. He could put up the local angle of the situation to her—and I could tell her in her own language that she was making a lot of trouble. You know, Eddie, I got a gift that way."

It came back to Eddie's mind that by profession he was a confidence man—a glib persuader, but back of all that, too, a guy with a keen idea of friendship.

"Mike," he said, tensely, "you don't know what this means to me. I'm engaged to be married and I if you can get Bernice off my hands you'll save my life."

Bake Half As Often

TRY a double baking with Occident Special Patent Flour. No need to bake so often. Occident will keep your baking fresh until the last bite is gone.

Occident contains an unusually large amount of high quality gluten—the nourishing element in flour. Gluten absorbs liquid readily and this extra moisture keeps bread fresh for a longer period. Occident not only makes better bread but makes more of it—more loaves to the sack. Try it—see for yourself. Order a sack from your dealer today.
